

WORK EXPERIENCE

Are you a school student thinking about what job you'd like to do after leaving school? Completing a work experience placement is a good way to find what you're passionate about.

Stanwell offers work experience placements, for a maximum of five days per student. Opportunities are highly dependent on the type of work being completed at the time, if there are valuable learning experience available and if the necessary supervision is available for the duration of your placement.

What can you expect?

If you are successful in getting a work experience placement, you will:

Complete mandatory training for site entry

Job shadow a Stanwell employee and meet their team members

Be exposed to what a typical day is like

Gain insight into the type of work they complete

Understand how teams work together

Have opportunities to ask questions

See what the work environment is like

What should you do next?

Ask your school about work experience. Often they have a dedicated staff member who can help you find and organise a placement.

We encourage you to explore our website for more information about what Stanwell does and how we operate.
